DON'T SAY "ROTTEN," SCOOP—IT'S VERY VULGAR

ERRORS GAVE THE GAME TO GREAT FALLS

By the score of six to three, the Electric bunch from Great Falls took the third game of the series from the Kittens in what was a good game for seven innings. Then a few mistakes by the locals put over enough Great Falls men to clinch the game.

Great Falls put up a good exhibition and Williams was twirling in great shape. McDonald opened for his team but his wildness and tendency to hit every batter that faced him was sufficient to Hesterize him to the bench in the last of the fourth inning. McDonald had thrown three balls to Moore and the fans were looking for Williams to walk the catcher. Instead he threw three strikes and Moore went to the bench to buckle on his shin guards.

Hester had changed his batting list, placing Galena at the head and from all appearances the change has been an improvement.

The Electric scored their first run in the opening spam. Galena singled. Potts sacrificed him to second. Faye sent an easy one to Green and was out at first, but Galena went to third where he scored on a single by Kelly. Kelly tried to steal second and was tagged.

Nothing more was done by the visitors until the fifth. Hester got to first in that frame on an error by Laird. Gibson fled to Hayes and Williams singled. Hester stole third and scored when Galena hit the ball to Sinclair who had replaced Green and the ball was thrown to third. Hester ran towards home and Jones threw the ball over Moore's head. Williams tried to get home on a grounder to Laird from Potts but was out a mile and the side was retired when Faye was tagged at first on a grounder to Sinclair.

In the seventh inning after Hester and Williams had been put out, Gibson, who had got to first after being hit by the pitcher scored when Galena sent out a fly to short center. Wessler, Laird and Murray were all there but the ball dropped to the ground, nevertheless.

YOUNG CATCHER HERO OF FANS

Ray Schalk, the young backstop of the Chicago white Sox, who has supplanted the veteran Billy Sullivan as first string receiver for Manager Jim Callahan's team. Schalk is looked upon as one of the early season sensations in the American league. Besides his ability to handle all kinds of shots behind the plate and hold runners close to the bases, he is a reliable batter. Then, too, he can catch Ed. Walsh, which is some feat.

Laird 2. Two base hit—Pitts. Three base hits—Kelly, Galena. Stolen bases—Hester, Van 2, Laird 2, Hayes. Sacrifice hits—Potts, Faye, Moore. Sacrifice fly—Potts. Double play—Williams to Hester to Gibson. Hits off McDonald, 2 in 3 2-3 innings.

CASTLETON IS AN EASY MARK

HELENA DEFEATS MISSOULA 15 TO 10

Helena, May 9.—Helena got the best end of a slugfest today, winning from Missoula by 15 to 10. With a total of 35 hits, of which the Vigilantes made 19, the fielders were kept on the ump and there was a continuous procession of players around the sacks. Changnon played a brilliant game around third for the visitors. The score:

New York, May 10.—The news of the announcement issued by Bat Nelson that he intends to quit the fighting game for good was hailed with joy by fight experts in New York, all of whom are good friends of the battler. These fight followers, along with many other admirers of the Great Dane in other parts of the country have been trying for years to induce Nelson to give up the vitality-sapping occupation and enjoy the fortune he has amassed by virtue of his ability to stop thousands of terrific punches with his jaw without fluttering an eyelash.

Oscar Battling Nelson, of Hegewish, Ill., began fighting his way to fame and fortune seventeen years ago and he always fought. No one can ever accuse the Durable Dane with having stalled in his life. He fought because he loved to fight, as well as for the financial returns. Unlike the present day class of scrappers who content themselves with two or three bouts a year, Nelson liked nothing better than to have a long schedule of two fights a week to fill.

He holds the record for marathon fighting, having fought sixty-nine battles in one week, while meeting all comers at a Philadelphia theater. It is a long time since Nelson lost track of the number of battles in which he had been one of the principals, but it is generally acknowledged that the mark must now be well up toward 1,000.

Despite his long experience in the ring Nelson never acquired any of the so called scientific style of boxing. He was always the same persistent slugger, boring in, taking five punches in order to land one. Bat seldom won by a quick knockout. He usually permitted his opponents to exhaust themselves hammering away on his iron jaw and body. Then a punch of only ordinary force would invariably wind up the bout in a blaze of glory for the Hegewish terror.

Nelson will doubtless be known in the pugilistic hall of fame as one of the most popular fighters that ever donned a glove. As an instance of his popularity it is well to recall what happened after Ad Wolgast wrestled the world's lightweight title from Nelson. Wolgast paraded his newly won honors on the theatrical stages for ten weeks and made $10,000. Nelson, too, went out before the public, and within thirteen weeks made more than $4,000.

Only two men have been credited with knocking him out—Wolgast and Moran—and in neither instance was the Dane unconscious. Nelson always disputed the victories of these two rivals, swearing that he was not given a fair deal in either battle.

In retiring from the ring Nelson intends to devote his time and energy to increasing the fortune of $30,000 he has saved from his fight earnings. His income is at the rate of $700 a month. He's entitled to every dollar, for he gave value for value received.

There will never be another Battling Nelson. Fighters of the new generation cherish no ambition to equal the numerical record of battles fought established by the Durable Dane.

SEVEN BALLOONS ENTERED. Kansas City, May 10.—Seven balloons already have been entered for the national elimination race which will start from here July 4. President George M. Meyers of the local Aero club announced today.

He said the Pacific Coast Aero club of San Francisco, the Million Population club of St. Louis, the Aero club of Illinois, and the Kansas City Aero club would be represented by at least one balloon each and that William F. Assman of St. Louis had given assurances that three other bags would be in the race.

Capt. Horace B. Wild is to be the pilot of the Illinois club's entry and Rev. Baldwin will pilot the San Francisco bag.

Cambridge, Mass., May 10.—The first dual field and track meeting to be held in the stadium was expected to produce new world's record for the mile run.
